COLUMBUS

In The Huddle

By Steve Snapp

Each new college football season brings with it a number of rule changes. One of the changes enacted this year by the NCAA Football Rules Committee is, or should be, of major interest to all college football fans.

In an effort to reduce the excessive crowd noise that often makes it impossible for an offensive team to run a play in a crucial situation, the Rules Committee has decided to penalize the defensive team if the crowd is overly boisterous.

Simply put, the new rule states that if, after three tries, a quarterback feels he cannot be heard because of excessive crowd noise, the referee, who must concur that the noise is excessive, may charge the defensive team with a timeout. If the team's three allotted timeouts have been used, a five-yard penalty will be assessed for each subsequent attempt to start play.

Such measures may seem overly drastic to some fans, but, in plain truth, crowd noise has become such a problem in recent years that there seems to be no other alternative.

Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes feels strongly on the issue.

"When a team gets down close to the goal line, it deserves the right to run its plays," says Woody. "When you don't give a team a fair chance to do so, you take away from the integrity of the game, and college football must maintain its integrity at all costs."

Adds the veteran coach, "Crowd noise usually isn't a problem here in Ohio Stadium, but when the crowd does get out of hand, I'll go out on the field and try to quiet them. That's how strongly I feel on the subject."

It is good to see the Rule Committee addressing itself to this problem of crowd control. Ohio State fans should make it a point to start the year off on the right foot by setting an example for other fans around the country.

BUCK BITS . . . This is the third head-to-head meeting between Woody Hayes and Joe Paterno. Hayes leads the battle of coaching giants 2-0 . . . Under Hayes, Ohio State is 23-3-1 in season openers and has won 10 straight openers . . . Woody ranks as the fourth winningest coach of all time with 231 career victories . . . Paterno ranks eighth in winning percentage with an .821 mark for 12 years.

OSU vs PSU

Though they are neighbors geographically, Ohio State and Penn State are relative strangers on the gridiron, this being just the seventh meeting between the two college football magnates.

Penn State leads the brief series 4-2. The Nittany Lions, year-in and year-out one of the nation's top independents, won the first four meetings, even though all of those games were played in Columbus. The perennial powerful Buckeyes have extracted a measure of revenge in recent years, however, winning 17-9 in 1975 and 12-7 the following year in the only game of the series played at Penn State.

Today's game has all the earmarks of another classic. Penn State is off to a 2-0 start with wins over Temple (10-7) and Rutgers (26-10) and is currently ranked fifth nationally by A.P. The Nittany Lions' attack centers around Quarterback Chuck Fusina, who holds or shares nine PSU passing records. The Buckeyes are, of course, making their season debut, but are ranked sixth on the basis of 14 returning starters from last year's 9-3 team. Included in that group of hold-overs are six all Big Ten selections, one of which, linebacker Tom Cousineau, was a first-team all-American last year.

Both teams are loaded with all the necessary ingredients for great years — experience, depth and talent — and both teams have a penchant for winning.

As a matter of fact, a recent study released by the NCAA shows Ohio State as the winningest team in college football during the past 25 years, with Penn State ranking third. In the last quarter of a century, the Buckeyes have a winning percentage of .790 based on a 183-46-7 record, while Penn State's winning percentage is .761.

With those kinds of records, ABC's announcement last summer that today's game would be regionally televised came as no surprise.

MAJOR 1978 NCAA FOOTBALL RULE CHANGES

- * On the third request by the quarterback, granted by the referee, for quiet at the line of scrimmage, the defensive team will be charged with a timeout, or a 5-yard penalty for delay if they have no timeouts left.
- * An injured player must leave the game for one down or his team is charged with a timeout.
- * If a player's jersey is torn such that his number on both the front and back of the jersey is not completely visible or his shoulder pads are visible, he must leave the game for one down or his team will be charged with a timeout to repair or replace the jersey.
- * Intentional grounding will be called if a pass is thrown to the ground in an area not occupied by an eligible pass receiver of the offensive team or out of bounds to save loss of yardage or to conserve time.
- * An eligible pass receiver who is blocked or pushed out of bounds by an opponent remains eligible to catch a pass.
- * Any unsuccessful field goal attempt from beyond the 20-yard line, that is untouched by the defensive team, will be put into play from the previous line of scrimmage.

NOW OPEN...

The College Football Hall of Fame.

Imagine, if you will a Hall of Fame devoid of musty little rooms where memories hang heavily along drably painted walls and trophies lose their glitter in dim-lit shadow boxes.

Visualize, instead, a football Hall of Fame which honors its great players, coaches and personalities in bright attitudes of achievement. Picture telescreens bringing men and matter to life, where the late Knute Rockne "talks" of legends and "Red" Grange gallops again. See yourself matching wits with history's most successful coaches or testing your knowledge of the game in a computer quiz.

These experiences are reality at the National Football Foundation's new College Football Hall of Fame at Kings Island, the 1600-acre family entertainment center, situated along Interstate-71 north of Cincinnati. The new facility promises more than a past-tense presentation of gridiron glory. To the contrary, you will discover football excitement in a modern mood, blending multimedia concepts into a unique, fun-filled learning process.

Aligned with the National Football Foundation's dedication to educate and inspire Americans through the principles of football, the new building has been hailed as the Hall of Fame of the future.

Jaques Cattell Press, in its recently-released The Big Book Of Halls Of Fame, foresees the visitor getting "to know the game of college football intimately within 2-3 hours" or attaining "in 10 minutes, a first-name kind of friendship with a famous college football star of the past."

Indeed, this personalized approach is an integral part of the Hall. Exhibits will bring the total college football experience to life via action-oriented attractions which invite your participation. Within a campus-like framework of Georgian-Colonial architecture, the building will house a wonderland of fact and fun certain to appeal to each member of the family—male and female, young and old.

For example, a touch of the telescreen keyboard will conjure up the legends of Jim Thorpe, Tom Harmon, Bronko Nagurski, "Whizzer" White, Pop Warner or any of the 453 players and coaches enshrined in the Hall. The computer will give you ready access to information on the Hall of Famers, according to name, school, state or season.

You may want to meander through the "Time Tunnel," tracing the history of football from its earliest beginning as a Greek game called Harpaston, played in 478 B.C., to its modern version. Walk along the cobblestones of Merry Old England and learn how King Henry II outlawed the sport when his archers spent more time kicking a ball than drawing their bows. Leave the ancient days of football's development, passing through a Civil War tent and into the blossoming evolution of the game as a uniquely American sport.

Four theatres will provide cinematic insight into great teams and individuals, classic contests, bowl highlights and rib-tickling football follies. Wide-eyed youngsters can enjoy Hanna-Barbera's Fred Flintstone in an "explanation" of football rules. A 250-seat Grandstand Theatre will record the game's Golden and Modern eras in film and slides.

And, yes, you will witness Notre Dame's legendary Knute Rockne—in a specially-produced animated form—deliver his famous pep talks in the "Locker Room," sponsored by Chevrolet. The reincarnate Rockne will urge you to "Win One For The Gipper" or "Fight, Fight, Fight," recalling some of the most inspirational moments in football. That's not all! Many other coaches are featured in Locker Room screenings.

The computerized "Strategy Room" is set to offer exciting games to test your skill and judgment in situations so familiar to the nation's coaches. Tackle a computer quiz and "make the team," moving from Recruit to Coach, all based upon your knowledge of football and its history.

Or, for some real fun, step up to the tee and kick a "game-winning" field goal. Be careful, though! There are cheers if you make it, boos if you miss.

Undoubtedly, the new Hall of Fame will offer college football's color, excitement and pageantry as an extension of the already popular family entertainment theme of Kings Island. Taft Broadcasting Company, owner of Kings Island, is managing the Hall of Fame under the direction of the National Football Foundation.

The traveling gourmet can enjoy the Island's International Restaurant; the golfer, a tour of the Jack Nicklaus Golf Center, site of the 1978 Ladies Professional Golf Association Championship.

Overnight guests will relax amid the Swiss-chalet charm of the 300-room Kings Island Inn or take advantage of the Kings Island Campground which accommodates 300 recreational vehicles.

After the game, tackle a T-Bone at Ponderosa

Here's a great after-game plan—a thick, juicy T-Bone steak with baked potato, warm roll and butter, and unlimited refills from our salad bar. Now that's a meal fit for a pro—and at a winning price, too. So line up the whole family for your own "T" formation—delicious Ponderosa steak dinners prepared the way you like them.

Meet the Buckeye Captains

BYRON CATO

A senior from Lorain, Ohio, Byron is in his second year as a starting defensive tackle. He was one of the Buckeyes' most dependable players last year (finishing the season with 76 tackles) and is considered a strong candidate for all-conference honors this season. Cato played in every game as a sophomore and also lettered as a freshman. An all-state lineman at Admiral King High School, he captained his prep football and track squads. Following graduation from Ohio State, he plans to become a counselor.

TOM COUSINEAU

A first team all-American pick last year, Tom figures to be one of the top linebackers in college football this season. The muscular senior topped the Buckeyes in tackles in 1976 with 184 and finished second last year with 149, even though he missed the greater part of two games. Since enrolling at Ohio State, he has played in 35 of 36 games. Tom was an all-state and all-American selection at Lakewood St. Edward High School, where he was also a standout wrestler, advancing to the state finals as a senior. His many honors include being named as the Top Defensive Player in the 1977 Orange Bowl.

RON SPRINGS

Ron enjoyed an outstanding season last year in his first year as a starter, leading the Buckeyes both in rushing and receiving. He led the conference in ground gaining with 870 yards (an average of 107 yards per game) and was named to the all-Big Ten Team. On the year Ron finished with 1166 yards, becoming just the sixth back in Ohio State history to rush for 1,000 or more yards in one season. A former junior college all-American, the speedy senior tailback should be one of the best running backs in college football this year.

TIM VOGLER

After being tried at several different positions his freshman and sophomore years, Tim found a home at center last year. He missed both the Oklahoma and Purdue games because of a knee sprain, and his absence, especially in the former contest, greatly hurt the OSU cause. An excellent blocker who learns quickly, the senior from Covington, Ohio is a steady, dependable player. An all-Ohio fullback at Covington, Tim is an industrial arts major at Ohio State.

Head Coach Woody Hayes

A legend in his own lifetime, Woody Hayes is now in his 28th year at Ohio State.

Coming into the 1978 season, the 65-year old Hayes owned 231 career victories in 32 years as a head coach. That total placed him second among all active major college coaches in number of wins and left him in fourth place on the all-time victory list.

In 27 seasons at Ohio State, Woody has amassed 198 victories, an average of 7.3 per season. His Big Ten record as of last November was 146-35-9 and included 13 conference titles and ten major bowl appearances. Under Hayes, the Buckeyes have either won outright or shared the conference title each of the last six years, an accomplishment that is unprecedented in Big Ten history.

Additionally, over the past 25 years, Hayes-coached teams have posted a record of 183-46-7. That works out to a winning percentage of .790, the best winning percentage in college football during the last quarter of a century.

Listed below are some of Coach Hayes' many accomplishments coming into the current campaign:

- * A 32-year record of 231-68-9
- * A record of 198-57-9 at Ohio State
- * 25 winning seasons in 27 tries
- * A current string of 11 consecutive winning seasons
- * Three national titles
- * 13 Big Ten titles
- * Six consecutive Big Ten titles
- * Six consecutive major bowl appearances
- * Twice Coach of the Year
- * 57 First team all-Americans
- * Four Heisman Trophy winners

More Spring in the Offense

Ron Springs, Ohio State's All-American tailback candidate had a great year in 1977, but he anticipates an even better season in 1978.

Ron Springs is a communications major at Ohio State. It's a natural for the Williamsburg, VA native. Both intelligent and articulate, he possesses an easy going manner that allows him to converse effortlessly with everyone he comes in contact with. Someday, when his football playing days are over, Springs hopes to pursue a career in either television or radio. In the meantime, the Buckeye tailback is content to do his communicating on the gridiron.

"I do a lot of talking during the game, especially to the offensive linemen," says the 6-2, 200-pound speedster. "I want them to know that I appreciate what they are doing for the backs."

The Buckeyes' centers, guards, tackles and ends evidently got the message last year. Because Springs, in his first year as a starter, rambled for 1,166 yards to become just the sixth running back in Ohio State history to top the 1,000 yard mark in a single season.

And Springs is the first to admit that the men up-front contributed mightily to his success.

"It may be an overworked saying, but a back really is only as good as his blocking," declares the 21 year old senior. "I know without them (the linemen) I'm dead. That's why I never hesitate to tell them when they make a good block."

Springs topped the Big Ten in rushing last year, gaining 870 yards in eight games, an average of just over 108 yards per game. In fact, Springs was at his best during the conference season, enjoying five 100-yard plus games (with a high of 151 against Purdue), in helping OSU to its sixth consecutive Big Ten title.

As good as 1977 was for Springs, 1978 figures to be even better. He's bigger and stronger than he was a year ago (about five pounds and much more muscular) and he has an added year of experience to rely on.

He considers the latter extremely important.

"Last year I really was just learning the position," he says. "I know I can be a better back this year with the experience that I now have."

There is another factor to consider too. As a junior Ron spent a lot of time at fullback because of a nagging ankle injury to regular Jeff Logan. This year the Buckeyes have three solid fullbacks in Paul Campbell, Ric Volley and Joel Payton, so Ron can spend all his time concentrating on one position.

"I think that is going to be a plus for me," decided Springs. "There were times last year when I wasn't mentally ready, because I was thinking about two positions. I should be mentally sharper and tougher this year and you have to be mentally and physically ready to play this game."

Springs would like to again surpass the 1,000 yard plateau as well as make some all-American teams. But his No. 1 goal is another Big Ten championship.

"I've played on two Big Ten Championship teams and I want to make it three before I graduate," declares Springs. "I think this team can do it, too. We have a lot of talent and everyone on the team is dedicated to winning. That was evident the first day of practice when everyone came back in such great physical shape. I really think this could be the best team I have played on at Ohio State."

While things are going very well for Ron Springs right now, it wasn't so long ago that he went through some bad times. One of the most sought after junior college backs in America after the 1975 season (he scored 25 touchdowns and rushed for 1,800 yards at Coffeyville JC), Ron came to Ohio State expecting to break into the starting lineup immediately.

Instead, he spent the first year with the Buckeyes as a back-up to Logan, who himself had spent two years as an understudy to Archie Griffin.

"That was the hardest thing I ever had to do," admits Ron. "I had always been a starter and then all of a sudden I was sitting on the bench. It was a real blow to my pride."

One of the toughest moments came against Penn State in a game played at University Park. The Springs family had driven up from Virginia for the game, but Ron's only action was a member of the specialty teams.

"That hurt," he recalls. "Penn State was a big game and I wanted to play and contribute."

Is he extra psyched for today's season opener against that same Penn State team?

"No, not really," he says. "I just want to win and get the season off on the right foot. Of course, my family will be watching today, too, so I would like to have a good day. But, really, the only important thing is that we win. If we do that, I'll have a good day, and a good week."

OSU's Gomer Jones Honored at Halftime

At halftime of today's game, Mrs. Gomer Jones will be presented with a pair of plaques commemorating the many athletic accomplishments of her late husband, Gomer, an all-American center at Ohio State in 1935.

One of the plaques is from the National Football Foundation's Hall of Fame. The other is from the Ohio State University Sports Hall of Fame. Jones was recently elected for membership to both shrines.

Gomer was one of the outstanding football players in the mid '30's. In addition to earning all-American recognition, he was team captain and MVP as a senior.

After graduation, he pursued a career in coaching, serving for many years as an assistant to Bud Wilkinson at Oklahoma. He succeeded Wilkinson in 1964 and served for two years as head coach of the Sooners. He left the coaching ranks in 1965 to become Oklahoma's Athletic Director.

Gomer Jones served college athletics long and well and is certainly deserving of a place in both the National and the OSU Halls of Fame.

Jones is the tenth Ohio State player named to the National Hall of Fame. Others are Chic Harley, Gaylord Stinchcomb, Wesley Fesler, Gust Zarnas, Jim Daniell, Bill Willis, Les Horvath, Vic Janowicz and Jim Parker.

Meet the OSU Football Staff

Over the years college football has become a game of great complexities and enormous intricacies, making it necessary for every head coach to surround himself with a staff of capable, hard working, knowledgeable assistants.

"A coach is only as good as his assistants," declares Ohio State coach Woody Hayes, unhesitatingly. "The game has become too specialized for one man to do it all by himself."

Accordingly, Hayes has put together a staff of eight full-time assistants, who aid him in the task of making the Ohio State program one of the most successful in the country.

Here is that staff for you to meet:

GEORGE CHAUMP — With the retirement last spring of Esco Sarkkinen, Chaump becomes the senior assistant on the OSU staff in terms of length of service. A 1958 graduate of Bloomsburg State, George has been with the Buckeyes since 1968 as quarterback and split end coach. He has developed a number of standout signal callers in those ten years, including Rex Kern, Cornelius Greene and Rod Gerald. While a high school coach at John Harris High School in Harrisburg, Chaump, who has introduced many innovative ideas at OSU, posted a six year record of 58-4.

GEORGE HILL — The Buckeyes' defensive coordinator and linebacker coach, George is in his eighth year on the OSU staff. Under Hill's guidance the Ohio State defense has become one of the most formidable in college football, annually ranking near the top in most of the NCAA's defensive statistics. Over the past five seasons, the OSU defense has allowed an average of just 9.7 points a game. Hill, who has also coached at Findlay College, Denison, Cornell and Duke, has produced a number of great linebackers, including two-time all-American Randy Gradishar.

MICKEY JACKSON — A former standout running back at Marshall, where as a senior he finished fourth nationally in scoring, Mickey coaches the running backs at Ohio State. He holds the distinction of being the only coach in the history of college football to produce consecutive Heisman Trophy winners, Archie Griffin in 1974 and 1975. Following his graduation from Marshall, he spent four years at his alma mater as coach of the offensive backs and receivers. In early 1974 he accepted a similar position at Miami (O.), but left the Oxford, O. school after just six months to join the Buckeyes.

ALEX GIBBS — In four years at Ohio State, Alex has become one of the Buckeyes' most popular coaches. He has also impressed everyone with his knowledge of the game and great enthusiasm. When Alex joined the staff he was assigned to the offensive guards and centers. The next year the staff was realigned and Alex moved to the defense, where he coached the down linemen. There were more changes last year and Alex moved back to the offense to again tutor the guards and centers. A native of North Carolina, Gibbs is a graduate of Davidson.

DAVE ADOLPH — A member of the OSU staff since January of 1977, Dave coaches the defensive tackles and middle guards for the Buckeyes. A graduate of Akron, where he was an outstanding athlete and scholar, prior to coming to Ohio State, Adolph coached at Akron, Connecticut, Kentucky and Illinois. He turned out his first OSU all-American last year, middle guard Aaron Brown.

BILL MYLES — In his second year at Ohio State, Bill coaches the offensive ends and tackles for the Buckeyes. His prize pupil last year was Chris Ward, who was a consensus all-American and voted as the nation's top lineman by the College Football Writers. A native of Kansas City, Missouri, Myles is a graduate of Drake, where he played center and linebacker. After graduation he spent seven years as a high school coach before moving on to the University of Nebraska as freshman coach. He later coached the offensive line and linebackers for the Cornhuskers.

GARY TRANQUILL — Like Myles, Gary is in his second year with the Buckeyes. A graduate of Wittenberg, where he was a Little all-America quarterback, Tranquill coaches the defensive secondary at OSU. The winner of eight varsity letters at Wittenberg, Gary coached eight years at his alma mater, working with the defensive backs. He has also coached at Ball State, Bowling Green and Navy. He was the secondary coach at Ball State and BG, but worked with the quarterbacks and wide receivers at Navy.

GLEN MASON — A 1972 graduate of Ohio State, Glen is the newest member of the Buckeye staff, signing on in April as a replacement for Esco Sarkkinen as coach of the outside linebackers. Mason won a varsity football letter as a reserve middle guard for the Buckeyes in 1970. He was slated to start the following year, but a broken ankle ended his playing career. He began coaching in 1972 at Ball State and has also coached at Allegheny College, Iowa State and Illinois.

Hindsight is always better than foresight, and that's what makes the Buckeye Grid-a-Phone Show on WBNS Radio the liveliest, most controversial and most entertaining wrap-up to an afternoon of Ohio State Football. Live from the Jai-Lai Restaurant right after every Buckeye game, WBNS Sports Director John Gordon, Roy Dittman and P. J. And they field calls from those wonderfully happy (and terribly irate) Buckeye fans who colorfully express their opinions on the game.

The New Chevrolet

Spectacular beauty, plenty of room, a pleasure to drive. And more.

We would not insult your intelligence by suggesting that you'd buy a car simply because it's beautiful.

But what if that beautiful car were also beautifully built, remarkably roomy inside, and a genuine pleasure to drive?

Now we're talking your language.

The New Chevrolet is a thoroughly contemporary automobile built around a roomy 6-passenger interior.

It comes as a pleasant surprise to most people that this trimmer car actually has more head room and more rear seat leg room inside than the 1976 full-size Chevrolet it replaced. It also has a bigger trunk. More corrosion fighters. And more ease of entry and exit.

More than 600,000 people bought The New Chevrolet (Caprice and Impala) during its very first year on the market, making The New Chevrolet the most popular car in America.

It isn't just the beauty. But it sure doesn't hurt.

You're invited to visit the Chevrolet football exhibit at the new College Hall of Fame at King's Island (25 miles north of Cincinnati).

This unique museum lets you participate in the fascinating history of college football. See it soon.

All the technical advancements come down to this:

Getting the color right, automatically. That's what the 1979 ColorTrak is all about.

Last year RCA sold more color televisions than any other year in their history.

One reason is the ColorTrak System—a remarkable achievement that's been made even more remarkable for 1979. This year, ColorTrak grabs the color, aligns it, defines it, sharpens it, tones it and locks it on track more automatically than ever before.

Fine tunes every channel, automatically.

The 1979 ColorTrak is the most automatic color set in RCA history. It's made to bring you natural, lifelike color—the right color—without bothersome adjustment and fine tuning. In fact, ColorTrak's new quartz crystal ChannelLock Tuner is so accurate you'll never have to fine tune a channel again. Ever.

RCA's new ChannelLock Tuner uses a vibrating quartz crystal to locate and lock on to each TV channel. This precision device completely eliminates the need for fine tuning.

Adjusts for varying colors, automatically.

You've probably noticed how colors can change when a commercial or new program appears. ColorTrak deals with that problem two ways: Automatic Color Control continuously monitors color and adjusts it automatically. Colors stay consistent from scene to scene, program to program, channel to channel.

In addition, ColorTrak is equipped with Dynamic Fleshtone Correction that automatically keeps fleshtones warm and natural, for a consistently lifelike color picture.

Adjusts for changing room conditions, automatically.

A color picture that looks fine when your TV room is dark may appear too dim when you turn on the lights or open shades.

ColorTrak's Room Light Sensor helps overcome this by automatically making the picture brighter. Colors stay rich and vivid.

To help even further, our black matrix picture tube has specially tinted phosphors. They actually absorb reflected room light, to reduce glare on the screen.

A black matrix on the tube helps absorb reflected room light.

ColorTrak also has specially tinted phosphors that absorb additional room light to reduce glaring reflections.

Experience the 1979 ColorTrak at your RCA Dealer now.

There are many other features that contribute to the magnificent RCA ColorTrak picture.

But all the features and technical advancements really come down to this: RCA wants you to see the right color. On every program. On every channel. Every time you turn on your set.

For the complete line of ColorTrak models, write to: RCA Consumer Electronics, Dept. 27-212, 600 North Sherman Dr., Indianapolis, Ind. 46201.

RCA is making television better and better.

About Penn State

Chartered by the Pennsylvania Legislature as the Farmers' High School in 1855, The Pennsylvania State University was founded by professional men, educated farmers and state and county agricultural leaders. A faculty of four met the incoming class of sixty-nine students in February, 1859.

In May, 1862, the institution was renamed the Agriculture College of Pennsylvania, a name which recognized that its work was of collegiate level. Two months later, on July 2, President Abraham Lincoln signed the Morrill Land Grant Act, offering each state free public land which it could sell to endow institutions of higher learning where "the leading object shall be . . . to promote the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes in the several pursuits and professions of life."

On April 1, 1863, the State Legislature declared that the Morrill Act "is hereby accepted by the State of Pennsylvania with all its provisions and conditions and the faith of the State is hereby pledged to carry the same into effect." The Legislature then designated Penn State as the land-grant college of the Commonwealth.

The College broadened the scope of its instruction, began to admit women students, increase its enrollment and enlarge its physical plant. Graduate work was offered as early as 1862. In 1874 the College was renamed the Pennsylvania State College.

In 1953 the name was changed again — to The Pennsylvania State University — in formal recognition tion of what Penn State had long since become, one of the country's leading universities.

The Pennsylvania State University

Its ten undergraduate colleges now offer 123 baccalaureate and 28 associate degree majors; graduate students may choose from 125 approved fields of study.

The original student body of 69 has grown to 60,180, the faculty of four to 3,998. Beginning with an educational program which offered 40 courses, Penn State today offers 3,662 undergraduate and 2,073 graduate courses.

Fusina One Man Magic Show for Penn State

Chuck Fusina is an amateur magician, who is performing some tricks of his trade on the Penn State football record book.

Fusina, a quarterback from McKees Rocks, Pa., has made most of the Nittany Lions' passing records disappear. He has broken or tied nine school records while leading the lions to two straight bowl games.

"My magic is no big thing," Fusina insists "I do card tricks, sleight-of-hand, prop tricks — things that any six-year-old can do if he can read directions."

There is nothing simple or easy about Fusina's football accomplishments. Last year, he led the Lions to an 11-1 record, including a 42-30 victory over Arizona State in the Fiesta Bowl. Along the way, he set season records for completions (142), attempts (246) and passing yardage (2,221).

His top performance came in the clutch against North Carolina State when he completed 22 of 36 passes for 315 yards and two touchdowns in leading the Lions to a 21-17 come-from-behind win. He drove his team 83 yards in the final two and a half minutes to pull out the game.

His 22 completions and 315 yards passing in that game set Penn State records. Fusina also holds the Lions' record for completions in a career (234) and has tied school records for touchdown passes in a season (15), touchdown passes in a career (26) and passes attempted in one game (36).

Despite his record-breaking heroics, Fusina has not set any personal goals for the 1978 season.

"My only goal is to improve on last season, even though we lost only one game," he says. "We missed an undefeated season by five points last year and our team's goal this year is to go undefeated."

The Nittany Lions defeated three teams that won bowl games last season — Maryland, North Carolina State and Pittsburgh. Those three return to the 1978 schedule and the Lions also face road games at Ohio State and Kentucky.

"It's a great challenge, but it's also a great opportunity for us," Fusina says. A talented basketball player, who was listed in one national magazine's list of the top one hundred prospects as a high school senior, Fusina chose football over the court sport.

"I never really considered basketball because I didn't think I was that good," he says with typical modesty. "I just scored a lot of points because I shot so much. I didn't like basketball as much as football."

Having selected his sport, Fusina then was faced with selecting a school.

"I picked Penn State because it was fairly close to home and it offered me a chance to play top-level football and get a fine education," he says.

A good student as a marketing major in Penn State's College of Business Administration, Fusina hopes for a career in business after a probable career in professional football.

"Penn State has given me a great opportunity to develop," he says. "I will be well prepared for a career in marketing or some other business field. I would like to try pro football; but, really, as far as football is concerned, I'm not looking past this season."

Most of his fan mail comes from youngsters, although not all of it is flattering.

"I get a lot of mail from kids telling me about their football," he says. "One kid told me he saw me play and decided he wanted to be a quarterback because he didn't want to work too hard."

Fusina has worked hard for most of his life. His father died when Chuck was four and he has worked at a variety of summer jobs to give himself some spending money.

"My mother has done everything for me," the Lion quarterback says. "She has made it possible for me to do everything that I wanted."

Fusina has developed close relationships with his coaches and teammates.

"All of my coaches have influenced me," he says. "Coach Phillips (Bob, Penn State quarterback coach) has been a big help to me and my high school coaches also helped me develop as a person as well as a player."

That future is a bright one indeed for Fusina, an amateur magician whose quick hands and passing wizardry make Joe Paterno's worries disappear.

OSU Board of Trustees

Howard D. Sirak serves as 1978-79 chairman

Dr. Howard Sirak, chairman of the Board of Trustees, was appointed to the nine-member board May 19, 1971, for a nine-year term. He was vice chairman in 1977-78.

He was a professor in the Division of Thoracic Surgery of the University's College of Medicine and head of the cardiovascular service at Ohio State's Medical Center before resigning to accept the appointment as trustee.

Dr. Sirak has long been interested in the problem of mechanical heart-lung apparatus. In 1955, he organized the "open-heart" surgical team for treatment of patients with heart defects. After 14 months of work, a modified version of the apparatus in use elsewhere was applied to human cases. Since 1957, more than 3,000 patients have undergone operations at University and Children's Hospitals in which the apparatus was employed.

Dr. Sirak received his bachelor's degree from the University of Pennsylvania, his medical and master's degrees and general surgical training at Ohio State, and thoracic surgical training at Bellevue and Presbyterian Hospitals of Columbia University, New York. He also served for two years on a Navy surgical team assigned to the Marines in Korea.

Dr. Sirak is a diplomat of the American Board of Surgery and the American Board of Thoracic Surgery, a fellow of the American College of Surgeons and the American Association of Thoracic Surgery, and a member of several American surgical societies.

He is the author of the book "Operable Heart Disease," and more than 65 articles for medical and other scientific journals.

Working together to save energy.

As Ohioans struggle with mounting energy problems, their 108-year investment in Ohio State University is paying important dividends.

The state's leading academic center for scientific and social research, Ohio State is in an active partnership with local, state and federal agencies in the critical search for ways to energize the Buckeye State.

Today, Government Day in Ohio Stadium, the university gratefully recognizes the thousands of people serving in state, national and local governments — and their constituents — for their faith in Ohio State and its value as one of the world's great institutions for teaching, research and service for more than a century.

When word went out this year to state universities for answers to energy shortages, Ohio State faculty responded with no fewer than 212 research proposals.

When the Ohio Board of Regents was directed by the Legislature to take energy-saving steps to overhaul campus buildings across the state, regents turned to Ohio State's energy conservation director, Dallas Sullivan.

Sullivan first supervised an audit of public and private institutions and now is involved in an 18-month program to pinpoint building alterations.

The Sullivan plan for higher education facilities is likely to be a model for state government in general to follow in energy conservation, regents officials believe.

Ohio State, nationally recognized for its own conservation efforts, has cut fuel consumption 45 percent and electrical use 15 percent over the last five years.

In other key areas of the university-government partnership, the university is:

- Launching a pilot energy extension service in Lucas, Allen and Williams counties, using a $280,000 grant from the Ohio Department of Energy to encourage people to conserve more energy in their daily lives.
- Investigating how eight Ohio cities save energy in their purchasing processes. The study, through a $22,250 state grant, is being done by the university's two-year-old Program for Energy Research, Education and Public Service.

- Conducting federally-supported summer workshops for school teachers, giving intensified, in-field instruction to prepare them to help their students understand the energy problem.
- Providing utility regulators from across the nation with energy management and conservation guidance through the university's National Regulatory Research Institute, funded by $1 million from the U.S. Department of Energy.
- Searching for ways to utilize Ohio's large supplies of high-sulfur coal, through methods ranging from using bacteria to remove the sulfur to mixing corn stalks with coal for power generation.
- Pioneering a way to anticipate natural gas shortages, a $150,000 project supported by the Ohio Department of Energy.

At the end of this season, this team will be number one.

The Kodak All-America Team

It's one of the oldest and smallest teams in college football. It doesn't have a win-loss record. It doesn't set rushing records, and it has never scored a touchdown. Yet, at the end of the 1978 season, the Kodak All-America Team will be the number one team in college football.

What this team will have is the 22 very best players of the season. Twenty-two men who have earned the right to be called All-American. No amount of popularity or publicity can put a player on this team if he doesn't deserve to be there. It is a distinction which is earned with outstanding ability, sportsmanship and leadership. And these players have to prove themselves to the toughest coaches of all, the American Football Coaches Association.

The Kodak All-America Team is the only team which represents the choice of the more than 2,000 college and university coaches who are the American Football Coaches Association. Their standards are exacting, for this is a team that for 89 years has included the greatest names in college football.

The 1978 Kodak All-America Team has yet to be selected. The field is large, for there are more than 12,000 players from which to choose. But when the season ends, a handful of men will have distinguished themselves, and earned the honor of being on the number one team in college football.

U.S. Amateur King — John Cook

John Cook was a recent guest at an Ohio State football practice. Even though Buckeye coach Woody Hayes had ordered practice closed prior to the season opener with Penn State, he was willing to make an exception in Cook's case.

John, an Ohio State sophomore, had just won the U.S. Amateur golf title and Woody, understandably, wanted his squad to meet the 20-year-old blond.

Public appearances of that sort will very shortly become routine to young John. He is the hottest thing going in amateur golf right now and very much in demand.

Cook doesn't mind though. He wears his new crown humbly, and is as gracious off the course as he was good at the amateur early this month.

John was brilliant enroute to collecting his first major. In the finals he out dueled Scott Hoch of Wake Forest 5-4 and dazzled the gallery and a national television audience with his putting. In an amazing morning round he birdied five of seven holes on the back nine to all but sew up the victory.

It was a sensational end to a sensational summer for Cook, who also won the Northeast Amateur, the Ohio Amateur and took medalist honors in the Broadmoor Invitational. All that after winning the Big Ten title in May.

Now John will compete in the World Series of Golf in Akron and then travel to the Fiji Islands for the Eisenhower Cup. And by winning the Amateur, he has exemptions in the next two Masters, the next five U.S. Amateurs, and 1979 U.S. Open, the British Open and Amateur and the Walker Cup Team matches.

You can add the name of John Cook to the already long list of Ohio State golfing greats.

Ohio State Fight Songs

The Cheerleaders

ACROSS THE FIELD

Fight that team across the field,
Show them Ohio's here,
Set the earth reverberating with a mighty cheer
Rah! Rah! Rah!
Hit them hard and see how they fall;
Never let that team get the ball,
Hail! Hail! the gang's all here,
So let's win that old conference now.

CARMEN OHIO

Oh! Come let's sing Ohio's praise,
And songs to Alma Mater raise;
While our hearts rebounding thrill,
With joy which death alone can still.
Summer's heat or Winter's cold,
The seasons pass, the years will roll;
Time and change will surely show
How firm thy friendship O-hi-o.

BUCKEYE BATTLE CRY

In old Ohio there's a team,
That's known thru-out the land;
Eleven warriors, brave and bold,
Whose fame will ever stand,
And when the ball goes over,
Our cheers will reach the sky,
Ohio Field will hear again
The Buckeye Battle Cry —.

Drive! Drive on down the field,
Men of the scarlet and gray;
Don't let them thru that line,
We have to win this game today,
Come on, Ohio!
Smash thru to victory
We cheer you as we go:
Our honor defend
So we'll fight to the end for O Hi o.

There are no time-outs in Agriculture, Home Economics, and Natural Resources.

Ohio State's College of Agriculture and Home Economics, including the School of Natural Resources, is working 365 days a year for you. Why? Because our mission deals with products and services basic to your daily needs.

This college offers students preparation for challenging careers, combining the principles of science, business, education, and engineering with the animal, plant, and social sciences.

Agriculture is Ohio's largest industry and requires dedicated, well-trained people for its efficient operation. The College of Agriculture ranks third in the nation in terms of undergraduate enrollment. Our strong academic programs produce a high percentage of the students graduating with honors at Ohio State each year. The job market for agriculture graduates is strong with new opportunities evolving regularly.

Home economics offers innovative programs, including a learning resources center which provides individualized instruction. The resident instruction, research, and extension programs of the School of Home Economics are involved in meaningful community outreach programs to meet the needs of today's consumers. Nationally, one out of every 10 Ph.D. degrees in home economics is awarded by Ohio State.

Natural resources, our young but growing school, operates with a strong interdisciplinary approach to natural resources management. The school's research program includes long-standing emphasis on forest biology with related concerns in parks and recreation, fisheries and wildlife, resource development, and environmental education.

ATI (Agricultural Technical Institute) has grown rapidly to an enrollment of 850 students since its founding in 1972. The goal of our two-year program is to prepare students to be able to function effectively on their very first day on the job. Emphasis is placed on practical application through a required earning/learning internship.

Buckeye Harriers Among Title Contenders

The 1978 Big Ten cross country season promises to be one of the most competitive of all times. The big powers should be Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio State and Wisconsin, although there is such balance that no schools should be ruled out.

This season's showdown will be at the Big Ten Meet in Bloomington, Indiana on November 4.

Defending champion WISCONSIN figures to again be very strong in 1978. The Badgers, sixth place finishers in the NCAA meet last year, will be led by Jim Stintzi, who finished second in the Big Ten in 1977 behind Michigan's Bill Donakowski. Following on the heels of Stintzi will be Jeff Randolph, fourth place finisher in the 1977 Big Ten finals. Returning from red-shirt status is world class runner Steve Lacy. Lacy placed eighth in the Big Ten in 1976. He is healthy and will be in the running for the number one spot in the Big Ten. Seniors Mark Mieke and Pete Chandler add depth to the Wisconsin team. They placed 17th and 33rd respectively in the Big Ten last year. Junior Randy Jackson, 22nd place finisher in the Big Ten Meet will also help the Badgers.

OHIO STATE HAS ITS FIRST FIVE top finishers from the 1977 Big Ten meet returning and could pose a real threat to the Badgers. The Buckeyes, who finished tied for second last season, are led by junior All-American Steve Crane. Crane placed third in the 1977 Big Ten Meet and is one of the best in the Midwest. Junior Paul Roberts, a sixth place finisher in 1977, will be back as will Lyle Braund, who placed eighth in 1977, giving OSU the most formidable trio of runners in the Big 10. Seniors Mark Warfield and John Glidewell round out the strong returning Ohio State distance team. Coach Jim McDonough has also landed some new recruits who will help the Buckeye cause. John Case from Fairmont High School in Fairmont, West Virginia is the 1978 State mile and two-mile champion and was the runner up in the State Cross Country Meet in 1977. Mark Taylor from Wilson High School in Wilson, New York is a strong distance runner. He was the runner-up in the 1977 State Cross Country Championships, and as a freshman and sophomore he was voted New York State's outstanding High School distance runner. These two new recruits should help Ohio State become a real power in the Big Ten this year.

MICHIGAN WILL AGAIN be in the thick of it, with All-American, Mike McGuire, who placed third in the Big Ten in 1975, and Steve Elliott, who took sixth in 1976, heading the cast of holdovers. Michigan has managed to recruit a fine freshman in Jerry Donakowski, whose brother, Bill, was the Big Ten Champion in 1977.

MINNESOTA'S strength will lie in Steve Plasencia. He finished fifth in last year's Big Ten Championships. Plasencia has been hampered by injuries to his leg and foot during his collegiate career but will hopefully have a healthy '78 season. Junior Joe Nabbefeld, 13th place finisher in the 1977 Big Ten meet, will also help the Minnesota harriers on the cross country course. Other returnees that will form a strong nucleus for Minnesota are, Larry Berkner, Gerald Metzler and Gordon Weaver. They finished 38th, 39th and 41st respectively in the Big Ten finale. Gopher distance runners improved during last year's track season and adding new recruit Don Hurley from St. Paul should be ready for the 1978 cross country campaign.

ILLINOIS LOST THREE of its top seven finishers in the Big Ten but hopes to pick up the slack with returning lettermen Tim Close, 26th place, Jim Eicken, 28th place and Bill Fritz who placed 31st. Illinois future hopes lie in new recruit Rob Carney from Burnsville, Minnesota.

INDIANA has a very young team. The Hoosiers have lost only one finisher in the Big Ten meet, that being Dan Visscher, who placed 20th. Just missing the top ten last year were John Gustafson, Randy Stoneman and Ron Craker, placing 11th, 12th and 15th respectively. Indiana also has a new hopeful in freshman Tim Spivey of Woodville, Illinois, a mile and two-miler in high school.

IOWA has lost its top Big Ten finisher, Bill Santino, 23rd, by graduation along with Steve Pershing and Chuck Berger. It should be a rebuilding year for the Hawkeyes. Returning from last year's squad are Joe Paul, 36th place in the Big Ten, Tom Ferree, Greg Prestemon and Rich Fuller.

ALTHOUGH NORTHWESTERN finished eighth in the Big Ten last year they will be looking for a much more successful season this year. The Wildcats will have all of their top six Big Ten finishers returning. Tim Gillman and Dennis Gawlik are the only seniors. Juniors Andy Oakley and Mike Hormann will be back, and rounding out their top six are two sophomores Jerry Caruso and Doug Peterson.

PURDUE will be attempting to improve its ninth place Big Ten finish with a rebuilding season. Returning are senior, Mike Matusz, junior Tim Smith and sophomore Louis Klump.

MICHIGAN STATE will be another young team in the Big Ten. Four of their top seven finishers on last year's squad were freshmen. As sophomores, with a year's experience, Tim Kerr, Jim Featherstone, Ted Unold and Kevin Watkins will be hungry to improve their status. Senior Steve Carlson and junior Todd Moss will be leading the Spartans on the course this year.
